When you visit the Restore Environmental website we may use cookies to collect certain browsing information about how you use and interact with our website (our cookies). Cookies are small data files which are stored on your computer. We have a relationship with a number of carefully selected third party organisations to help us deliver our website to you.

Some of these suppliers may also set cookies during your visit to our website. This is for them to meet contractual obligations with Restore Environmental (supplier cookie). These sets of cookies do not share any personal information regarding bank cards or financial information.

You can change browser settings to refuse or delete cookies, or refuse cookies when you first visit our website, but this may affect the functionality of the website. The means to refuse and erase cookies varies from browser to browser so please consult your browsers help menu for details on how to do this.
